

Amalie Labradoodles – Puppy Export

We would like an Amalie puppy and live outside Australia – what do we do?

Please complete a “Wishlist” application online via the Amalie website asking us to invoice you – there is no need to pay the application fee at this stage. We will usually be able to give you an indication when a puppy that meets your needs might be available.

What costs are involved?

Other than the cost of the puppy (Ex GST), additional costs will be required for boarding, health care, export permits and clearances, travel and import to the country of destination. On arrival there may be additional fees associated with clearance of the puppy from the national authorities. As each country is different and fees are subject to change, please contact us for an indicative quotation. This may need to be revised closer to the puppy’s travel date.

You will be responsible for investigating what costs and logistics are involved in the country you will be importing the puppy to. You may also need to arrange relevant documentation or permits and you will need to make arrangement for payment of any in-country fees. These will be in addition to any quotation provided by Amalie Labradoodles.
